The Supdt. wants a set of rules regulating the publication of inserts in the Gazette.

The cost and labor involved in printing a matter in more than one issue, is a point for consideration.

What the rules are in Madras is not clear. Unless the practice obtaining in that Govt is ascertained, it may not be easy to frame rules so as to cover all cases.

May the Residency be asked to get copies of orders of the Madras Govt on the Subject?

In the meantime, the Genl Records may be asked to look into and put up all available papers in the matter

I think it is very necessary that some definite orders should be passed on the point raised by the Supdt. Only in exceptional

Would it not suffice if search is made in the published Volumes of the Standing orders, the Madras & Bombay sets which we have in our Legislative Library? Please do so first.

Also, by reference to past issues of the Gazette of India, & the Gazettes of Bombay & the Central Provinces Gazette, ascertain whether rules & Acts are or are not being published more than once.

Thirdly, let our own Codes be looked into to see if any Act or Regulation requires notifications thereunder to be published more than once.

After this information is ready, we may ourselves prepare the standing orders suited to our requirement.

2. The result of an examination of the Gazettes of Govt of India, Fort St George, Bombay port and of Calcutta of 1882 is as under:-

1) In the Calcutta Gazette, the Bills and Acts of Bengal as well as Rules thereunder are published thereof, 1881, 1882, 1886

2) In the Fort St George Gazette, the Bills and Acts are published only when the Draft rules are sometimes published thereof and sometimes not. Eg: While the Draft Rules under the Petroleum Act, and Draft Rules relating to Breweries and Draft additional rules under Madras Act II of 1890 were published thereof, Draft amendment rules under Explosives Act, certain rules under Opium Act were published only once.

3) In the Govt of India Gazette, Acts and rules are published only once.

4) In the Bombay Gazette, the Acts are published thereof, but the rules only once.

It is usual Regulation III of 1901 it is said that the Regulation will come into force from the date of its publication in the official Gazette. The rest of the Regulation ~~begins~~ uses the following expressions, as the Regulation will come into force —

1) from the date of passing thereof
2) from the date of its publication in the Gazette. [Reg XI 1854]
3) from the first day of ... [illegible]
4) after the expiration of one month from the date of its publication in the Gazette

~~But the practice of publishing regulations~~ and rules ~~have been~~

As regards rules, most of the general clauses Regulation says when a power to make rules a bye laws is given subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication, the following provisions shall apply :—

1) the authority shall previously publish a draft of the ~~the~~ information of persons likely to be affected & 2) the publication shall be made in such manner as the Authority deems sufficient & in such manner as the Govt prescribes.

It will thus be seen that our Regulations do not so emphatically declare that a Regulation or rule should be published.

But the practice has been to publish the Draft of Regulations, Regulations & Rules, in 3 successive issues of the Gazette and has sprung up from the force of condition. Thus the very first Regulation passed since the Condition was published in the Gazette issues of the 16th 23rd and 30th June 1883 and the Draft of the Abkari Code was published in the Gazette issues of the 19th Sept, 6th and 13th Oct 1883.

Draft rules under Mysore Regulations were ordered by the Council to be published in 3 successive issues of the Govt Gazette.

order or rule regulating the publication of Acts & Rules in the Mysore Gazette.

All Regulations and Rules finally passed affecting the community in general, especially those imposing penalties for breaches of rules, may be published in the gazette thrice as it is desirable that the people should not be left in ignorance of the laws to which they are subject. In the case of draft Regns, their publication once in the Gazette would be sufficient. A number of spare copies may be struck off and circulated to D.Cs Commrs, members of the Representative Assembly and others for opinion.

Govt Notifns pertaining to Land Acquisitions may be published only once and spare copies sent to D.Cs Commrs for wide publicity being given in the locality in ~~the~~ which the lands have to be acquired. Pro-

I think a single publication is sufficient as a rule, whether the matter be a Resolution, rule, draft, notification, or advertisement. In exceptional cases, additional publication may be ordered specially.

In view of the fact that future arrangements in regard to legislative matters will entail more frequent resort to printing than heretofore it is necessary to economise work as far as possible -

To

K. S. Chandrasekhara Iyer, Esq: B.A., B.L.,
Secretary to Government,
General & Revenue Departments.

SIR,

I have the honor to bring to the notice of Government that at present no standing order exists with regard to the number of issues of the Gazette in which Government Notifications pertaining to land acquisitions, prohibition for epidemics, notices of Departments, re tender advertisements, vacancies of appointments, loss of property, absconding of prisoners, Acts and regulations &c, are to be published. At present some regulations are ordered to be published in three issues and others in only one

I herewith forward a copy of the the D.O. received from Mr: Fisher, Superintendent of the Government Press, Madras, from which it will be seen that Acts and regulations are published only once. I would therefore suggest, on the grounds of economy in printing, that Government would be pleased to pass a standing order, that all Acts whether draft or finally passed, and rules thereunder, and all other Notifications be published in only one issue of the Gazette, both in English and Kanarese, and that exceptions to this to form the subject of a separate order.

An instance of what I mean is seen in the recent publication of the Municipal Regulation. It occupied 76 pages in English, and 106 pages in Kanarese, consuming 242 reams of paper for three issues. Had the publication been confined to one or two issues, the saving of paper and time in printing and binding would have been very considerable.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,
C. H. Gates.

D.O

Government Press, Mint Buildings,

Madras, January 20th, 1907.

My dear Gates,

Your D.O of the 17th Instant

Government has delegated to the Superintendent, Government Press, the authority to permit the publication of a Notification more than three times In case if Notification which it is necessary to repeat, the Superintendent will decide after the third issue whether the publication of addenda would be sufficient. As a general rule the publication of a Notification in more than three issues will not be permitted. This order was issued in 1905, as the result of a representation that I made, prior to which the sanction of the Chief Secretary was necessary for more than 3 issues. Mr. Hills' practice was to publish publish a notice as many times as asked. You will see from a para in my report with you, that although the new system was in force for half the year only, a fair saving was effected. This applies principally to Examination Notices, Tender advertisements and vacancies. Government Notifications, such as you mention are never inserted more than once, the only exceptions being those under the Salt and Abkari Acts which contain penal clauses and are required by the Acts to be inserted in three issues years ago acts were published in three issues, but this wasteful practice was stopped in 1873. This is our present system, but I cannot send you copies of any Govern-ment orders on the subject as it is contrary to rule. You can however however quote what you like from the above.
